1.40pm Sir John Timpson CBE

We have invited Sir John Timpson to share his experiences with Warwickshire headteachers because he looks at management through a new lens. He is often quoted as a business maverick, and is chairman and founder of the British high street chain Timpsons. He has revolutionised how his firm worked; there are definitely parallels with the role of headteachers facing both budgetary challenges and a time when children and families' social, emotional and mental health needs are increasing. He developed his philosophy of upside-down management, encouraging flexible working, having a happy index, a bonus scheme and checking the cash on hand every day. He says never make decisions at meetings....John was also a foster parent, with his late wife Alex to over 90 children and is working with Headteachers of Virtual Schools in the West Midlands on improving outcomes for Children who are Looked After.
