

Breaking the Glass Ceiling of ‘Good’

It’s hard to move a school from ‘Requires Improvement’ to ‘Good’, but even harder to move a school from ‘Good’ to ‘Outstanding’. In fact:

Only 6% of schools gain or maintain the Ofsted ‘outstanding’ judgement
24% of schools Heads Up have supported have gained or maintained their outstanding judgement

What gets you to “good” will not get you to “outstanding”.

The journey to good and the journey to outstanding are qualitatively different.

Getting to good is about compliance, systems and making sure a demanding list of actions are done every day, it’s no small feat.

Getting to outstanding is about creating a high-performing culture, something most leaders are not adequately trained to do; it’s the reason most schools struggle to break the glass ceiling of good.

Every school can be outstanding and at this event Sonia Gill will be sharing how, including:

- Common problems faced when moving from ‘Good’ to better than good
- Key changes you need to make to enable the shift
- Practical tips you can take away and use immediately

Presenter: Sonia Gill, Founder & Director of Heads Up Ltd

Sonia Gill has an impressive track record in supporting headteachers to create genuinely outstanding schools. She doesn’t focus on the Ofsted framework and yet the schools she supports are far more likely to achieve ‘outstanding’ than those that don’t.

Sonia is a qualified teacher who has taught children of all ages from Reception to 16 and was selected to join the prestigious John Lewis leadership programme where she led a number of multi million-pound business areas at John Lewis. She is a speaker at educational events and the author of two number 1 ranked Amazon books 'Journey to Outstanding' and 'Successful Difficult Conversations in Schools'.
